

MADERO CHOOSES REYES
FOR MINISTER OF WAR

Offers President de la Barra
Foreign Relations Portfolio
in His Cabinet.

BOTH PROMISE TO SERVE

Their Agreement Believed to Indicate Union of All Elements
Under New Regime
in Mexico.

Mexico City, June 10.—"If I should be elected President, Señor de la Barra will be Minister of Foreign Relations and General Reyes will be Minister of War in my Cabinet," said Francisco I. Madero, Jr., to-day after a visit to Chapultepec Castle, where he talked with President de la Barra and General Reyes. Both men have consented to accept these portfolios, and their decision was announced in the following official bulletin issued at the National Palace to-night:

General Reyes declared his purpose of supporting and asking his political friends to support the candidacy of Madero in the coming Presidential election. In the event of the triumph of his candidacy, Madero has offered the portfolios of Foreign Relations and War and Marine respectively to Francisco I. de la Barra and General Bernardo Reyes, who accepted them, taking into consideration above all the vital interests of the country.

The meeting of the three men was accidental. Madero had been conferring with President de la Barra about the political situation, and was about to step into the elevator when General Reyes appeared. Madero was asked to remain. A frank discussion of the situation ensued.

Reyes Will Support Madero.

"It is true," said General Reyes, when seen at his home this afternoon, "that I am going to be Minister of War if Señor Madero is elected. I am not going to be a candidate for the Presidency or take part in the election. Just before you came a committee called on me to ask me to be a candidate for the Presidency, but I told them I intended to be a member of Madero's Cabinet if he is elected."

"I know Madero has the support of the popular element in Mexico and I am in complete sympathy with his principles. To offer myself as a candidate might mean a confusion which would produce anarchy, and I can assure you that President de la Barra, Madero and myself will work earnestly and incessantly to prevent such a contingency. We must work for the union of our fatherland, for it is a grave and delicate moment in Mexico. I am ready to accept any place that is offered to me if it is for the best interests of my country."

"But you would prefer the Ministry of War, would you not?" he was asked.

"Yes, because I am most familiar with it, and I think I would have the confidence of the army," he replied.

Madero's announcement that President de la Barra would return to his recent post of Minister of Foreign Relations is regarded as an indication that the new government will contain representatives of all elements.

An indication of what Madero's policy will be was given in a speech he made to the cadets of the National Military Academy when he reviewed them to-day.

Madero's Military Policy.

"In the reorganization of the army," he said, "there will be no interference with the officers of the line. The discipline and training of the military school are most valuable, and preference should be given to those who have had the benefit of its training."

Beale Madero stood General Garibaldi, Lieutenant Colonel Eduardo Hay, Lieutenant Colonel Roane Madero and Captain Julio Madero, of the staff of the former rebel chief.

"I have nothing but praise for the valor of the men who fought on both sides of the revolution that has just ended," Madero said. "I do not wish you to cherish any ill feeling toward those who have triumphed, for we fought not against the army, but against the dictatorship of the last thirty years."

As he spoke surprise was apparent in the faces of not only the cadets, but the crowd that stood behind. It was the first hostile word that had been spoken in the precincts of the military academy against the man who had once occupied the Presidential palace, which adjoins the academy.

MEXICO 'NEARLY' PACIFIED

Disbandment of Revolutionary Troops Proceeding Rapidly.

[From a Special Correspondent of The Tribune.]
Mexico City, June 10.—The pacification of the country is proceeding expeditiously, and the disarmament and disbandment of the revolutionary troops have already been accomplished in several states.

Ernesto Madero, the Minister of Finance, told the Tribune correspondent to-day that he expected within the next ten days to see the revolutionary forces dispersed, except that small detachments would be retained in various places as irregulars to assist the troops in quelling brigandage. The revolutionists are receiving 25 pesos for their rifles and a gratuity of 15 pesos each. The arrangement seems satisfactory to them.

Francisco I. Madero, Jr., will go to Cuernavaca next week to review the Army of the South and disband it.

MERCURY STILL 98 IN CHICAGO

Four Persons Die and Scores of Prostrations Are Reported.

Chicago, June 10.—Four deaths were caused by the heat to-day, and the number of prostrations ran into the scores. The thermometer registered 98.3 degrees at 3 o'clock, approaching within two-tenths of a degree of the June record made yesterday. The suffering was greater than yesterday, owing to the greater humidity.

Mrs. Mary A. Casey, eighty years old, died from the heat at her home. She was a sister of James T. Healy, federal Sub-Treasurer here during President Cleveland's first administration. A change of wind and thunder showers, with cooler weather, to-morrow are predicted.

FIRE ATTACKS SKYSCRAPER

Whitehall Building Blaze Beyond
Reach of Water.

Fire was discovered last night shortly before midnight in a storeroom of the United States Realty Company, on the tenth floor of the Whitehall Building, at No. 17 Battery Place, by a watchman in a neighboring building.

Upon the arrival of the fire apparatus hose lines were attached to standpipe connections on the pavement and carried up the stairways to the tenth floor, but it was found that the pressure was not sufficient to carry the water beyond the ninth floor and two fire engines were coupled together and the hose attached to them.

In the meanwhile firemen had ascended to the tenth floor and had played fire extinguishers upon the flames, confining the fire to the storeroom.

The Whitehall Building, which is a thirty-one story structure, is topped with the offices of the United States Weather Bureau.

CORNELL LOSES FRAT HOUSE

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Lodge
Burned—Loss Is $30,000.

Ithaca, N. Y., June 10.—The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house burned to the ground to-night, entailing a property loss of about $30,000. The building was doomed before the city firemen had made the ascent to the Cornell campus.

The fraternity house was purchased about ten years ago of Mrs. A. M. Prentice, who afterward married Professor L. A. Wait. It crowned the uppermost bluff overlooking Cayuga Lake and the city. It had a commanding position on the campus, was one of the best known of the fraternities and was known as Hill Crest.

Burning embers threatened the Alpha Delta Phi lodge and the handsome home of the Rev. Charles Mellen Tyler, but the students guarded these with streams of water. Luckily, there were only two fraternity men in the house when the fire was discovered. This is the fourth fraternity house fire since the fatal Chi Psi disaster in 1907, when three students and four firemen lost their lives.

BUSINESS MAN ARRESTED

Streetcar Passenger Presses
Charge of Larceny.

Harry Jonas, of No. 111 North Parkway, East Orange, N. J., and a member of the firm of Thalheimer Brothers, button manufacturers, at Nos. 49 and 51 West 24th street, was arrested last night as he stepped off a Sixth avenue surface car at 42d street. Thomas E. D. Ritchie, of the Continental Hotel, Broadway and 20th street, who said he was a travelling salesman, was the complainant against Jonas, charging him with grand larceny.

Within ten minutes after Jonas had been taken to the East 51st street police station, fully half a hundred men appeared in the station house to protest against the holding of Jonas on the charge preferred by Ritchie. They said that the arrest was an outrage. Ritchie insisted that Jonas be held, and the lieutenant on the desk was forced to hold him a prisoner.

According to Jonas, he boarded the northbound Sixth avenue car at 24th street, and saw Ritchie and a woman sitting on one of the seats. Jonas sat beside the woman who got off the car at 40th street. At 42d street Ritchie suddenly began to search his pockets, and then complained that he had been robbed of a $20 gold piece. When Jonas left the car Ritchie followed and caused his arrest. The money was not found on Jonas.

Jonas was released at a late hour last night on $1,000 bail furnished by the wife of Dr. Samuel Rapp, of 174 East 70th street. The latter called first on Magistrate Green at the night court, then at the home of Justice Seabroger and finally on District Attorney Whitman before he was able to get the release of his friend.

MAURICE BASLE KILLED

Chicago Auto Races Stopped
After Another Man Is Hurt.

Chicago, June 10.—With one driver killed and the pilot of a second car thrown over a fence, the automobile races at the Hawthorne track were called off during the second event to-day.

Maurice Basle, driving an Abbott-Detroit, was so severely injured in the first race that he died within fifteen minutes. His machine overturned at the sharp turn at the right of the grandstand. His skull was fractured and his body badly torn.

"Joe" Jaggersberg, driver of the Case car, had made the first round of the track in the second event, when his car hurled a fence at the same point. He was not seriously injured.

The spectators when informed of Basle's death yelled: "Robbers!" "Fakers!"

In spite of this the race was called off after the accident in the next event. A few exhibition drives were given to satisfy the crowd.

BURGLAR LEAVES SOCKS

Wears Them Over Boots While Plundering Washington Heights.

A trail of heavy woolen socks left on the roofs of three plundered houses in West 164th street is all the clue that the detectives of the West 152d station have to work on in their attempt to capture the most troublesome burglar in Washington Heights. He left no finger prints and the socks that made the footprints were left behind in each case, leaving the detectives little chance of connecting the thief with the crimes.

On Wednesday the apartment of Ralph McGowan, on the first floor of No. 157 West 164th street, was entered through a rear window, and $80 in cash and two gold pocket knives taken from his clothing while he slept a few feet away. The thief then went up the fire escape to the apartment of Morris Cohen, on the fourth floor, and took $48 in cash. A pair of heavy woolen socks that had been worn over the burglar's shoes were found on the roof by the detectives.

AN EXCITING INCIDENT IN REMOUNT STEEPLECHASE AT BELMONT PARK.

Major Roberts, on Rosemount, and Lieutenant Rumbough, on Tampico, making the jump by the stand. Later both fell, the former breaking his collar bone, the latter dislocating his shoulder, but they remounted and finished third and second, respectively.

GRAND VEDETTE REPEATS

Wins Two Races Before Gay
Crowd at Belmont Park
Terminal—English Polo
Players Onlookers.

Major Roberts, of Fort Thomas, Georgia, and Lieutenant Rumbough rode their horses into third and second places, respectively, with their right arms hanging limp and useless at their sides from injuries sustained in ugly falls in the race for the Remount Cup Steeplechase at Belmont Park Terminal yesterday. The good sized crowd which went down to the attractive course of the United Hunts Racing Association for the second day of the spring meeting, appreciating the rare nerve and courage, applauded vigorously.

Major Roberts fell near the woods on the backstretch when his mount, Rosemount, while racing along in second place, took off too short, and, hitting the top of a jump, came a cropper. Although suffering acute pain, Major Roberts remounted and went on after his field for what looked like a hopeless, stern chase. He worked up to third place, however, when Great Kahn ran out and Marmion bolted through the wing of a jump.

Tampico, the odds-on favorite, with Lieutenant Rumbough up, went crashing down at the third jump from home when racing along four lengths in front. Without thought of the pain in his shoulder Lieutenant Rumbough pluckily remounted, and while he could not overtake Knight of Elway, well handled by Lieutenant Tate, which romped to the judges an easy winner, he brought his mount home second. The race was confined to horses owned by the United States government and ridden by army officers.

Major Roberts suffered a broken collar bone, while Lieutenant Rumbough dislocated his shoulder. The latter dismounted at the judges' stand and rode off in the starter's wagon, but Major Roberts, with the pluck and grit of a Spartan, calmly rode his horse to the paddock before acknowledging that he was injured. The fracture was reduced by a physician before he left the grounds.

The English polo players beaten on Friday in the second and deciding match for the international cup were among the onlookers. Captain Lloyd, Captain Barrett and Lieutenant Edwards were congratulated on all sides for the good fight made. Devereux Milburn was the only one of the American team to put in an appearance, and he was the lion of the hour. Society and the hunting set turned out in force, and the lawn, paddock and stand were gay with color.

Among those who enjoyed the keen, spirited sport were Mr. and Mrs. John Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Burden, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bird, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Morse, Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Albert Pease, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Earle, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith-Hadden, Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Phillips B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. K. Vinkut, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Grace, Mrs. Payne Whitney, Miss Eleanor Sears, Miss Clair Bird, Miss Frances Hadden, Miss Ethel Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Talmadge, E. N. Townsend, Jr., W. Burlingame, Samuel Willerts, H. L. Herbert, Raymond Belmont, S. Hastings Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis, J. G. Follansbee, Elliot C. Cowdin, 2d, Eugene Reginald and John J. Graham.

Grand Veddette, an aged son of Long-street, started in two races and won two races. He showed that all distances look alike to him by winning the third event, at six furlongs, and coming back in the last to gallop home at one mile and a half. He cooled out so well after his first race that A. M. Herkness de-

WOMAN FIGHTS THREE MEN

Conquered in Wrecked Room
Only When Ankles Were Tied.

Elsie Ransford, a maid employed by Mrs. Frank V. Molloy, wife of a wealthy contractor, of Huguenot street, New Rochelle, when discharged yesterday afternoon attacked Mrs. Molloy and then went to her room, where she began to wreck the furniture. It took a patrolman and two men to lower her out of an attic window and take her to the station house in a wagon. Judge Samuel F. Swinburn gave her the choice of paying a fine of $10 or going to jail for ten days.

When the patrolman arrived the maid had ripped up the carpet, broken the mirror and torn the bedclothes in her room. She fought him until he called two linemen, who tied her ankles with heavy electric light wire. Unable to get her down the winding attic stairs without the risk of injuring her, the three men tied a rope about her waist and let her down through the attic window.

DOG SCARE IN WESTCHESTER

Rabies Feared by Owners of Many Wounded Animals.

The residents of Armonk and the surrounding neighborhood in Westchester County are excited because a mad bull dog dashed through Armonk and then continued northward on the Bedford road, leaving behind a trail of wounded dogs, cows and other animals. At least fifty dogs, several cows, a bull and a dozen pigs were attacked. Sheriff Henry Scherp, of Westchester County, who made an investigation, received word yesterday that the dog had been killed and six other animals that had been bitten were also shot.

The dog was killed by Alfred H. Thorpy, after a posse of gunners had trailed it for several miles. The head was sent to a laboratory for examination. Wealthy New Yorkers owning country estates near Armonk and along the Bedford road are greatly alarmed for fear that their pets, several of which were bitten, will develop rabies.

OFFERS PENNY TO SAVE PAIN

Little Boy, Run Over by Trolley Car,
Brave in Hands of Surgeon.

"Don't hurt me and I'll give you my penny to buy candy with," said four-year-old Moe Haber, of No. 325 Fulton street, Brooklyn, to an ambulance surgeon who was binding up his crushed right ankle. The boy had been lifted from underneath a Fulton street trolley car, which ran him down yesterday afternoon while he was crossing the street near his home.

In spite of his injury the little fellow did not cry. His words brought tears to the eyes of the surgeon, two policemen and a crowd that had gathered around. The boy was hurried to St. John's Hospital, where the wound was amputated. The child will recover, it is thought.

DANCES ALL NIGHT, THEN DIES

Woman, Separated from Husband,
Shoots Herself After Party.

Richmond, Va., June 10.—When a party of dancers left her home at 4 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Schanks appeared to be the merriest of those who had attended the party. She had danced all night. Two hours later she was dead by her own hand, having fired a bullet through her heart. Mrs. Schanks had been separated from her husband for two months.

BATTED BALL BREAKS NOSE

Woman in a Trolley Car Victim of Hot Line Drive.

A line drive which would have been good for a home run for the boy who made it had he wanted to make a circuit of the bases resulted disastrously for Mrs. Elizabeth Fleca, of No. 492 Stanhope street, Williamsburg, yesterday, while she was riding on a Bergen street trolley car in Liberty avenue near Powell street, Brownsville. The baseball flew through a window into the car and struck her in the face, breaking her nose and making her unconscious.

The youthful batsman on his way to first base might have been mistaken for "Ty" Cobb in one of his famous sprints between bases when the game broke up, the rest of the players having seen where the ball landed and so made for distant parts.

The woman was taken from the car, and suffered from a severe hemorrhage pending the arrival of Dr. McDermott, who removed her to St. Mary's Hospital for treatment. There was no arrest.

CRUSHED BETWEEN CARS

Man Alights from One and Fails to See Another Coming.

Richard D. Hamilton, secretary of the New York Flexible Wood Flooring Company, at No. 32 West 42d street, living in North Mount Vernon, was caught between two 42d street cross-town cars last night at Madison avenue and suffered a fracture of the left thigh.

Mr. Hamilton had just alighted from a car and was about to cross the street to the Hotel Manhattan, where his son Louis A. Hamilton makes his home. He did not see an approaching car until it was too late to escape and was hurled from one car to the other. Patrolman Murphy called an ambulance from New York Hospital and Mr. Hamilton was removed to that institution.

The man was notified and hurried to the hospital in a taxicab. Mr. Hamilton, who is fifty-five years old, later left the hospital and was taken to the rooms of his son in the Hotel Manhattan. The accident was unavoidable, according to the police, and no arrests were made.

DEAD MAN AT POOL GAME

Hackensack Barber Dies in His Chair
While Watching Play.

Hackensack, N. J., June 10.—Norbert Biegler, forty-one years old, who had conducted a barber shop in Hackensack for many years, watched a pool game in the National Hotel until 1 o'clock this morning, when he fell asleep apparently. The game finished, some one walked over to arouse the barber, but failed.

Dr. G. H. McFadden was summoned and declared that Biegler had been dead for an hour.

TROPICAL STORM
SWEEPS THE CITY

Torrential Rain Accompanies
High Wind, with Terrific Electrical Effects.

DAMAGE DONE IN ALL PARTS

Big Sign Crashes Through Skylight Into Billiard Parlor—
Flushing Circus Tent
Blown Down.

One of the most terrific tropical storms that has been seen in this section of the country in many years swept over Eastern New Jersey, New York and Long Island shortly after 10 o'clock last night, killing one man in Jersey City and leaving a trail of destruction that will probably amount to $200,000 in damages.

New York's streets ran ankle deep in water, and the subway was converted into a subterranean stream, with waterfalls instead of station steps, while frightened throngs sought shelter on every station platform.

A big electric sign on the roof of the building at the northwest corner of 49th street and Broadway was blown from its fastenings and crashed through the skylights into Maurice Daly's billiard parlor, on the top floor of the building.

The place was crowded with players, who were showered alike by the glass from the skylights and the torrents of rain that poured through the open spaces. There was a rush for the street, but no one was injured. The damage to Mr. Daly's place is estimated at $10,000.

The diners in Churchill's restaurant, across the street, were greatly alarmed by the crash. Patrolman Evans, of the West 47th street police station, turned off the power connected with the lighting apparatus of the sign and thus saved further trouble.

Damage All Over Town.

All over town the force of the wind and rain blew down trees and smashed windows, and the lightning struck a number of houses in the city and surrounding suburbs, the electrical feature of the storm, indeed, being one of its most terrifying.

Up in the Bronx the lightning put the electric lighting system out of service for almost half an hour. The telephone service also was crippled and the surface cars were at a standstill for a time. At West Farms Square, in West Chester, James Mooney, of No. 4250 Vyse avenue, was blown from his feet by a sudden gust of wind and rendered unconscious. He was taken to Fordham Hospital by Dr. Carey.

While making a trip to Staten Island when the storm was at its height, Captain Schmidt, of the Municipal Ferryboat Bronx, saw a small launch in distress off Robin's Reef. He ordered members of the crew to launch a lifeboat from the upper deck and they went to the rescue. They found two women and three men in a launch that was half filled with water and would have sunk in a few minutes. They were taken aboard the Bronx and carried to Staten Island.

Inside the big tent inclosure at Flushing, where a circus is being held for the benefit of the Flushing Hospital, twenty-five thousand persons were stampeded by the storm, six of them being slightly injured. They were taken to the Flushing Hospital.

The inclosure occupies five blocks, and is unroofed. To add to the panic, three trained elephants struggled wildly to escape from their keepers at each crash of thunder, and the horses of Squadron A, the members of which are taking part in the circus, began to stampede, but they were rounded up by the troopers.

It was estimated that the damage caused to the circus enterprise will amount to $50,000. The entire tentage of the circus was blown down.

The hundreds of passengers who were returning from Coney Island crowded the bridge entrance in Park Row and jammed into the subway station in a vast and frightened mass. A torrent of water poured down the subway stairs and over the platforms until the train schedule was forced out of operation.

The danger of a short circuit became apparent when the water rose in the roadbed, and the officials of the road took steps at once to open the big drains.

In every subway station the same condition existed, the crowds running into the kiosks and, as they grew in number, crowding the platforms for shelter.

The big flashes of lightning could be plainly seen through the glass pavement over the stations, and caused not a little alarm among those who were huddled together on the steaming station platforms.

In the theatre districts every one ran for a taxicab or a streetcar to escape the drenching rain. At Coney Island the crowds who sought the cool of the seashore got it with a watery accompaniment. They could not escape it as readily as persons in the city, for Coney Island offers a none too ample shelter for a crowd that numbered nearly two hundred thousand as last night's crowd did. Umbrellas that had fallen victim to the wild sweeps of the storm were strewn along most of the principal streets, the thoroughfares in the vicinity of the Brooklyn Bridge and Long Acre Square showing the biggest wreckage.

The rain made it appear as though a haze had settled over the city and surface car traffic was seriously hampered as the result.

Downtown Cellars Flooded.

On West and South streets, and in many of the downtown buildings the water poured into the cellars, causing heavy loss to the owners, and during the height of the storm, there were few crossings that had less than five inches of water pouring toward the sewers.

At the Columbus Circle there was almost a panic when the crowds that had been caught in Central Park by the storm rushed for shelter. A number of trees in the park were blown down, and this added to the fright of the numerous women, who ran into the stores and restaurants drooping and almost fainting.
